North Brentwood

Built in 1920, the North Brentwood A.M.E. Zion Church is a stucco-covered brick, Gothic Revival style building, with a pyramidal-roof corner entry tower. It was built in 1920, under the leadership of the Reverend Chesterfield Jackson, to house the community's Methodist congregation that had been meeting in private residences and in the Firemen's Hall. As one of the two original places of worship in the African- American community of North Brentwood, it has been an important element in the development of the town.
