

68-077 Dorr House
4525 Buchanan Street
Hyattsville

Built circa 1908 for William A. Dorr, whose family operated a commercial laundry facility, the Dorr House is a two-and-one-half-story, hip-roof dwelling of American Foursquare form. The house is constructed of a decorative combination of brick and molded concrete block, with brick laid to form a decorative quoin pattern around each opening. Members of the Dorr family were also involved in the development of the town of Hyattsville.