Built in 1896, the Seabrook School is a one-room, front-gabled frame schoolhouse with German siding and flush cross gables. It was built in 1896 for the white children in the Victorian retreat community of Seabrook. One of few nineteenth-century school houses surviving in Prince George's County, it is unique in that it was designed to resemble the cottages in the Seabrook community. Recently restored, the schoolhouse is now open to the public for educational programs.
