5600 Old Crain Highway

Upper Marlboro

Built circa 1870 and enlarged in 1893, the A.T. Brooke House is a two-part frame dwelling: the main block was built circa 1870 for Augustine T. Brooke, clerk of the Prince George's County Court, and followed the traditional I-house plan. It was enlarged in 1893 by a cross-gabled addition with a projecting bay, and served until 1903 as the rectory for Trinity Episcopal Church. A rear wing was added in the 1990s.
