15919 Leeland Road

Leeland

Built in 1913, Beechwood is a two-story, hip-roof frame dwelling of Neo-Classical style. It is distinguished by its monumental Tuscan portico and Colonial Revival interior detail. Beechwood was built on the site of George Hilleary's eighteenth-century plantation house, and was the home of prominent Prince George's County genealogist and author, Effie Gwynn Bowie. It is an outstanding example of Neoclassical domestic architecture.
