12001 Riverview Road

Fort Washington

Built in 1939, the house at Tulip Hill Farm is two-and-one-half-stories high and of brick construction, with a large pedimented portico fronting the Potomac River. Designed and built by its owners, Dr. and Mrs. James E. Poore, it is a country house of unique plan, design and decorative detail. Incorporated into the structure are exterior and interior elements salvaged from numerous older buildings from Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other places.
