

This is a detailed aerial photograph of a suburban area, likely in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. The map is oriented with North at the top. A prominent feature is a large, circular stadium with a blue roof and a green field, located in the upper left quadrant. To the right of the stadium, a red dot is marked on a road, enclosed within a blue rectangular outline. The map shows a dense network of streets, including major thoroughfares like Route 202 and Route 214. Various residential neighborhoods are visible, with street names such as Barlowe, Taylor Rd, and Capital Blvd. Commercial areas with larger buildings and parking lots are also present. The terrain is a mix of developed land with buildings and parking lots, and undeveloped land with trees and grass. The overall color palette is dominated by the browns and greys of the built environment, with the green of the stadium field and surrounding vegetation providing contrast.